Read the information about Donald's family. Then answer the questions about Push Factors and Pull Factors in immigration.

Donald lived in New Zealand with his parents. They were sheep ranchers and were very wealthy.

But one evening in 2006, Donald's father started yelling and said that if he saw one more woolly sheep he would go crazy! He wanted to change jobs and become an artist, and Australia had a great art school. So he decided to move to Australia with his family.

Donald didn't want to go, because all of his friends were in New Zealand. His grandparents were there, too. Donald's mom said they needed to move to Australia because dad wasn't happy in New Zealand. Mom liked her job, but she said she would quit so they could move.

1. Which of these was a push factor that made them leave New Zealand?

A. Donald had friends in New Zealand.
B. Donald's mom said she would quit so they could move.
C. Donald's dad was tired of being a sheep rancher.
D. Donald's family was very wealthy.

2. Which of these was a pull factors that made them go to Australia?

A. Donald's mom liked her job.
B. Australia had a great art school.
C. Donald's mom liked her job.
D. Donald's dad was going crazy.

DOK 2

1. C
2. B